

The Outward Bound Trust

Loch Eil Centre

Our residential centres are based in some of the most beautiful and dramatic landscapes the UK has to offer, with limitless opportunities for adventurous journeys.

The Trust's Scottish centre is a former shooting lodge situated on the edge of Loch Eil near Fort William, with views of the world-famous mountain, Ben Nevis. Loch Eil is close to the magnificent natural environments of Glencoe, the hills of Ardgour and Loch Linnhe, to name but a few. With all this on the doorstep, our Loch Eil centre is genuinely in the heart of a wild, remote and stunning landscape.

Travel Directions to The Outward Bound Trust Loch Eil Centre

For those driving from the South

Follow the A82 from Glasgow past Loch Lomond to Crianlarich. Then go over Rannoch Moor and through Glencoe. Then follow signs for Fort William, turning left onto Mallaig Road (A830) after the town and continue to the village of Corpach. Continue on this road for a further 3 miles and our Loch Eil Centre is situated on the right-hand side and is clearly sign-posted.

From Edinburgh

Coming from Edinburgh, follow the motorway to Stirling through Callander and onto Crianlarich. Then go over Rannoch Moor and through Glencoe. Then follow signs for Fort William, turning left onto Mallaig Road (A830) after the town and continue to the village of Corpach. Continue on this road for a further 3 miles and our Loch Eil Centre is situated on the right-hand side and is clearly sign-posted.

From the East Coast of Scotland

For those driving from the East coast, head North on the A9 to the Dalwhinnie exit. Follow signs for Fort William, turning right onto Mallaig Road (A830) just before the town and continue to the village of Corpach. Continue on this road for a further 3 miles and our Loch Eil Centre is situated on the right hand side and is clearly sign-posted.
